

About This CD-ROM

This CD-ROM is a part of the series of publications that form the official statistics for the 2001 election held on 10 November 2001.

The tables on this CD-ROM are supplied as:

- Microsoft Excel 97 files
- tab-delimited text files
- data import files

The Microsoft Excel versions of the tables are fully formatted. The text versions of the tables are not formatted and in some cases contain more data than the Excel files. For example, for the House of Representatives first preference votes and TCP by candidate by division tables, there is a separate Excel file for each state. The corresponding text file contains the data for all of the states and territories in one file. These two types of files are accessed under the "General Information", "House of Representatives" and "Senate".

The CD-ROM also includes six data import files for the use of clients who wish to build their own database for further analysis of the election statistics. These files are accessed under the heading "Import Files".

The CD ROM also contains Table Notes and other helpful information to assist with interpretation of the data. Images of the Tables used in these Help files are not representative of the Excel file and are provided for illustrative purposes only.

Due to rounding protocols, the group vote totals displayed in some tables may be higher or lower than 100%.
